

EMBRACIN: Rethinking Integration on a European Level

Interaction with host communities and active participation

Despina Syrri

24.05.2022

Online via zoom

11:30 – 13:00 [CET]

If you are interested in taking part, please send an e-mail – stating your name, occupation and the sessions you would like to attend – to: rethinkingintegration@eccar.info

You often don't feel like you've arrived until you know a few people in your neighborhood and have found your favourite places where you feel comfortable and safe: Thus, how can a mutual welcome be achieved? What is the importance of volunteering in this context? And are there also negative sides to volunteering? Here we want to go in quest of clues and illuminate the different sides of the topic of volunteering.

Despina Syrri founded the Symbiosis-School of Political Studies in Greece. With her experience in the topics of intercultural education, human rights, migration and refugees she is advocating for democratic participation in political processes free of discrimination and exclusion. She will shed light on the question how a mutual welcome can be achieved, showcasing the meaning of engagement for arriving in a new society.

More information & registration: www.embracin.eu